

ABSTRACT

Described herein are methods of expression cloning of components of signaling pathways that activate a transcription factor of interest. The methods are efficient for identifying modulators of transcription factors. The modulators can then be screened further or used directly to develop therapeutics.

5

09900509.070501